WOMAN KILLER CONFESSES

OLE SAUGE MURDERS MRS. WM. ZODROW IN JEALOUS RAGE

ACCUSES WOMAN OF UNFAITHFULNESS, THEN SLASHES HER WITH KNIFE

IRONCLAD CONFESSION OF THE CRIME MADE BY MINER TO COUNTY AUTHORITIES

Ole Sauge, 43-year-old miner, Iron-ton, former Brainerd man, is in the county jail today under guard for the killing of Mrs. Wm. Zodrow, 33, Iron-ton, formerly Catherine Shields of Brainerd.

The killer signed his name to a six-page confession late Thursday which he made to County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan and County Sheriff Claus A. Theorin in the presence of Constable George Ridley and Deputy Coroner Albert Humble.

In his confession he admitted the slaying of Mrs. Zodrow between the hour of midnight and 1 A. M. Thursday by stabbing her with a jack knife in her right leg following an altercation over her going out with other men. The attack took place in the backyard of the Ed. Johnson home in Iron-ton. She died in the woodshed adjoining the home from a hemorrhage due to the slashing of an artery.

Mrs. Opal Glenn, Iron-ton, was ordered held by the coroner's jury following the inquest at Crosby yesterday afternoon, as a material witness. She is now in the county jail.

Mrs. Ed. Johnson who was in the house with Mrs. Glenn at the time of the attack and who assisted in attempting to stop the flow of blood was, because of her young children, ordered to report twice daily to the municipal judge at Iron-ton. She has not been taken into custody.

No formal charge has been placed against Sauge as yet. Since conviction of murder or manslaughter carries a prison term of not less than ten years, the case must be presented to the grand jury for indictment.

Sauge will in all probability be arraigned in district court at the May term. He has already indicated his desire to plead guilty.

The confessor tells in his confession a story of paying attention to Mrs. Zodrow, of giving her money for her and her six children, and of warning her previous to the murder that if he caught her going out with other men he would kill her.

He said he "got sore" at Mrs. Zodrow and after she had left the car in which two men had taken her and Mrs. Glenn to the Johnson home had left, he fought with her and struck her with a jackknife while on his knees after he had slipped on the ice near the house.

Witnesses sworn in and testifying at the coroner's inquest were: Opal Glenn, formerly Opal Balvanz, Mrs. Ivy Nevela, Mrs. Ed. Johnson, Wm. Zodrow, Dr. J. P. Hawkinson, Crosby, who with Dr. Smith, performed the autopsy.

After hearing the evidence the coroner's jury returned a verdict that Mrs. Catherine Zodrow had met her death from a hemorrhage caused by a wound inflicted on her leg by a knife in the hands of Ole Sauge.

The jury further ordered that Opal Glenn be remanded to the custody of the sheriff and be held as a material witness and further required that Mrs. Ed. Johnson who is a mother of four children, the youngest being eight months, report twice daily to the municipal judge at Iron-ton and that she not be permitted to leave the county without the consent of the proper authorities. This action was taken by the jury to safeguard her appearance without the necessity of keeping her confined until the case is disposed of.

Complete Story Told
The story as it appeared from the evidence and Sauge's confession was as follows:

That Ole Sauge about 7:30 P. M. the night of the murder met Mrs. Zodrow at Plutz's store, Iron-ton, and that she asked him to drive her to the home of Mrs. Ed. Johnson. That after arriving at the home of Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Ivy Nevela called and all stayed until 10:30 P. M. Mrs. Nevela then left to go home and Mrs. Zodrow said she was going with Mrs. Nevela. Mrs. Opal Glenn, stating she was looking for Mrs. Nevela and thought she had come there. When Mrs. Zodrow arrived at the Glenn home there were present Mrs. Glenn, William Haugen

$50,000,000 FEDERAL HIGHWAY AID BILL IMPORTANT

Chicago, March 28.—(U.P.)—If congress passes the $50,000,000 federal highway aid bill, the national unemployment situation will become much less serious, the American Farm Bureau federation predicted today upon completion of a survey of the country's labor supply.

Sam H. Thompson, president of the federation, said that if the senate approves the bill, which already has been passed by the house, at least 100,000 men will be given employment for nine months or more.

CLAIM BEVERAGES ANALYZED CONTAINED CREOSOTE TRACE

Washington, March 28.—(U.P.)—Analysis of several hundred samples of the ginger beverages which have caused widespread paralysis in the south and west has revealed that it contained creosote or crude carbolic acid, Prohibition Commissioner Doran said today.

Prosecutions will be instituted soon against St. Louis and Cincinnati bootleggers who are believed responsible for distribution of the ginger beverages, Doran said.

of Iron-ton and Leo Raymond of Deerwood. The four stayed at the Glenn home until midnight when Mrs. Zodrow suggested that Opal go back to the Johnson home with her. Haugen and Raymond then drove the two women to the Johnson home, parking directly across the street.

Opal Glenn left the car at the request of Mrs. Zodrow to see if Sauge who was still in the Johnson home, was "sore" at her and to let her know. Opal then went into the Johnson home, leaving Mrs. Zodrow in the car and upon asking Ole if he was sore at Catherine, Sauge stated he was not. He left the house then and went out to find her.

Curses at Woman
It then appeared by the evidence that Sauge went over to the car demanding that Catherine get out. He started cursing at her and accusing her of being out with other men. After Mrs. Zodrow left the car and started walking towards the house, the car with the two men immediately left.

According to the confession made by Sauge, it appears that when they came to the back door of the house they started to fight and at that time, he stated, he cut her on the leg.

After she was wounded she walked to the rear door of the next house and then returned to the place where she was first wounded and fell from loss of blood.

Sauge then dragged her into the shed which adjoined the Johnson home and it was there where Mrs. Ed. Johnson and Opal Glenn saw Mrs. Zodrow. She at that time was lying on her back with her head towards the door and her clothing, except her corset and stockings, removed and hanging on her right arm.

Bleeding Profusely
Mrs. Zodrow was at that time bleeding freely and Sauge was attempting to stop the flow of blood. Dr. J. P. Hawkinson was called but by the time he arrived the woman was breathing her last.

The testimony of Opal Glenn and Mrs. Johnson showed that the car containing the two men left a short time after Sauge had left the house and that soon after they heard a woman scream and it was between five and ten minutes after the scream that they saw Mrs. Zodrow lying on the floor of the shed.

Sauge was taken into custody by officers at Iron-ton and placed in jail. Yesterday morning he denied any knowledge of Mrs. Zodrow's hurt claiming that the men in the car must be responsible. The autopsy showed that a sharp object had cut through the coat and clothing of the Zodrow woman and into the leg, the front inside portion of the limb about eight inches lower than the hip bone. The wound appeared about one and a half inches long and two inches deep, the instrument practically severing the femoral artery and vein. The testimony of the doctor showed she had died from a hemorrhage caused by a wound inflicted.

Sauge stated in his confession that he had been friendly with Mrs. Zodrow and at various times had given her money for the support of her children while her husband was confined in jail on a liquor charge.

He further stated that he had received $500 from his parents in Norway last October and that he had given this money to Mrs. Zodrow. The slayer lived in Brainerd for about eight years, working in the N. P. shops. He left here to work in the mines at Iron-ton twelve years ago. He has been married and divorced.

'Days of Sunday School Rule' Are Over in Missouri Penitentiary at Jefferson City

BLOODY RIOT OF THE PRISONERS IS QUICKLY QUASHED

"INSTITUTION WILL BE HANDLED LIKE A PRISON" HERE-AFTER

MAJORITY OF RIOT LEADERS WERE MERE YOUTHS IN THEIR TWENTIES
By NOLEN BULLOCH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

State Penitentiary, Jefferson City, Mo., March 28.—A mutiny which ended in a bloody riot between prisoners and guards in this century old prison which is sprawled out on the banks of the Missouri river, today caused penitentiary officials to announce that from now on "this institution will be handled like a prison" and that the "days of Sunday school rule are over."

A dozen convicts, their heads cracked, jaws broken and bodies bruised from the clubbing they received at the hands of guards, were confined in the hospital today. Nearly 100 others suffered lesser bruises and hurts in the riot which occurred yesterday in the prison mess hall and in the courtyard.

And in the solitary confinement cells nearest the river bank, nearly 80 men were held. Many of these are known as leaders of the rioting.

Warden Leslie Rudolph, for 20 years executive officer of the prison and known among guards and prisoners as "Square Shooter," announced after the rioting that leaders had told him the men intended to burn the chair and twine factories.

They intended this as a protest of the administration, Warden Rudolph reported the prisoners saying, rather than an attempt to escape.

Six hundred men who had not participated in the riot, were brought to the mess hall last night to be addressed by Warden Rudolph and to be fed. "I congratulate you on being men," Warden Rudolph said. "I know that conditions here are far from ideal, that we are overcrowded but I know that most of you feel I am doing my duty towards you."

"When I came to this penitentiary 20 years ago it was a penitentiary. In the last few years it has become a playhouse and a Sunday school. Those days are gone and from now on this place will be a prison."

The men cheered the warden when he told them "if you need a friend while you are in this prison remember I am always a friend and will hear your case."

A company of militia men from St. Louis arrived at dusk last night. Four machine guns brought with the 28 men, commanded by two officers, were mounted on pivotal points on the wall. The guardsmen joined those already on duty inside the walls in patrolling the cell houses and walls throughout the night.

The majority of the riot leaders were youths in their twenties, many

SHIPPING SEASON OPENS ON UPPER MISSISSIPPI RIVER

St. Louis, March 28.—(U.P.)—The shipping season on the upper Mississippi officially opened last night when the steamer Wynoka of the Mississippi-Warrior barge lines, pulled away from the municipal dock here bound for St. Paul, Minn.

With four barges in tow and a cargo of approximately 5,000 tons, the Wynoka is due in St. Paul next Friday.

Service on the lower Mississippi, between St. Louis and New Orleans, has been in operation since March 4.

HINDENBURG ASKS BRUENING FOR NEW CABINET

LATTER IS THE LEADER OF THE CATHOLIC CENTER PARTY OF GERMANY

PRESIDENT EMPHASIZES DIFFICULTIES OF PRESENT PARLIAMENTARY SITUATION
By FREDERICK KUH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, March 28.—(U.P.)—President Paul Von Hindenburg today called upon Heinrich Bruening, leader of the Catholic center party, to form a new German government.

The president's invitation to Bruening had been forecast by unofficial reports that an attempt would be made to form a cabinet with the centrist group dominating, and with the possible exclusion of the social democrats who brought about the collapse of the Herman Mueller government yesterday.

In his audience with Dr. Bruening, the president emphasized the difficulties of the present parliamentary situation, which, he said, rendered the formation of a cabinet without regard to parties or party coalitions desirable.

Dr. Bruening agreed, and informed Hindenburg he would attempt to construct a government on a non-partisan basis.

In the event Dr. Bruening is incapable of forming a government, Martin Schiele, leader of the agrarian wing of the nationalists, and Ernest Scholz, who succeeded Gustav Stresemann as the folks party chief, were regarded as possibilities.

Of these being committed to the penitentiary for terms of from 20 years to life.

None of the injured were thought to be fatally hurt.

ENDORSEMENT OF OLSON FOR GOVERNOR CERTAIN

MINNESOTA FARMER - LABOR CONVENTION NEARING ITS CLOSE

CARL E. TAYLOR OF AITKIN HAS FILED FOR THE NOMINATION

St. Paul, March 28.—(U.P.)—Endorsement of Floyd B. Olson, as gubernatorial candidate appeared certain as the closing of the Minnesota farmer-labor convention neared today.

Not only is Olson's unanimous endorsement foreseen by party leaders, but it is understood that a special plank will be inserted into the party platform, giving the candidate the free hand he demanded in a letter to the convention.

The nominations committee was reported deadlocked on an endorsee for the nomination for U. S. senator after the morning secret session. The deadlock, it was said, was over choosing between Ernest Lundeen, Minneapolis, gubernatorial candidate of two years ago, who ran against Dr. L. A. Fritzsche, New Ulm, farmer-labor endorsed candidate, and state Sen. Victor Lawson, Willmar.

Olson's announcement that he will be a candidate for governor was made in a letter read before the convention. In effect it said his name might be placed on the farmer-labor ticket but he wished to be free from party influence if elected.

The Hennepin county attorney said the republican party "is in politics to obtain patronage and special privilege." He said his own purpose is to secure efficiency and integrity in government.

He pledged himself, if elected governor, to appoint subordinates in accordance with their merit, indicating he would allow many of the republicans now holding minor positions to remain in office. He demanded "absolute independence in the selection of men and women to fill subordinate positions."

The Duluth delegation introduced a resolution calling upon Senator Henrik Shipstead to return from Washington to Minnesota to campaign for the third party until the election. It was referred to committee.

W. W. Royster of Glenwood was elected state chairman to succeed A. C. Welch of Glencoe. Committees to care for routine business of the party also were selected.

St. Paul, March 28.—Carl E. Taylor, Palisade, Aitkin county, filed today for the farmer-labor nomination for governor.

Herman F. Sprung, who lives near Ada, Minn., also filed with Mike Holm, secretary of state, for senator from the 64th district. Peter Sharpe, Ada, is the incumbent.

IRISH FREE STATE CABINET HAS RESIGNED

Dublin, March 28.—(U.P.)—President William T. Cosgrave's government resigned today after a defeat in the dail eirann and the Finna Fall accepted responsibility of forming a new cabinet.

Resignation followed defeat of the government last night by a vote of 66 to 64 on an old-age pension bill presented by the De Valera party in the dail eirann.

Sean O'Kelly, acting leader of the Finna Fall, announced that the party was ready to nominate Eamonn De Valera, who is now in Chicago, to form a new cabinet.

HEAVIEST SNOW IN HISTORY OF CHICAGO AREA

45-HOUR STORM COST THAT CITY MORE THAN $3,000,000, IT IS ESTIMATED

HOWEVER, IT WILL BE A GOD-SEND TO FARMERS AND TRUCK GARDENERS

Chicago, March 28.—(U.P.)—Have you been balanced with benefit today as statistics of the heaviest snowfall in the history of the Chicago area were computed.

The 45-hour storm cost Chicago more than $3,000,000, it was estimated while it was a God-send to farmers and truck gardeners whose fields needed moisture.

Items in the city's expense will include: Chicago surface lines, $1,000,000, half in loss of revenue and half in wages to 22,000 extra snow shovelers; railroads, $500,000, in similar loss; citizens and business houses, $500,000 for hotel bills; loop department stores, $500,000 in loss of business.

This was offset by the gain of rural districts in moisture for dry soil. The 19.1 and 19.2 inches of snow that fell in various districts was the equivalent of about 1.61 inches of rainfall and made up the deficiency in precipitation that had prevailed this season.

Normalcy was in prospect both in the city and country areas today as the heavy snow disappeared under a warm sun.

LEGGE IS TO HOLD OFFICE ANOTHER YEAR

TO CONTINUE AS CHAIRMAN OF THE FEDERAL FARM BOARD

LATTER HAS BEEN ADMINISTRATION STORM CENTER FOR MANY WEEKS

Washington, March 28.—(U.P.)—Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board, an administration storm center for many weeks, has been persuaded by President Hoover to remain in office another year, it was learned authoritatively today. His first year of service expires June 15.

When he accepted leadership in the difficult task of helping the farmer, Legge expected to remain only a year. He left a $100,000-a-year position with the International Harvester Company and planned to lead the board only through the farm emergency.

President Hoover has ignored the opposition to Legge from the grain trade, led by Julius Barnes, an intimate friend and official of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

President Hoover believes the administration's farm relief plans are now in mid-stream and it would be a grave error to change leaders at this time. Plans contemplate a livestock co-operative and wide expansion of the four marketing groups already established to handle grain, cotton, bran and wool.

FOSHAY IS TACITURN ABOUT TOWER SALE

Seattle, Wash., March 28.—(U.P.)—"This is one of those things I can't make any statements about," Wilbur Foshay, head of the Foshay Building Co. at the time receivers took it over, told the United Press today when asked if he planned to oppose sale of the Foshay tower in Minneapolis.

"I saw a copy of the petition the receivers drew up asking the federal court in Minneapolis to order the tower sold before I left home," Foshay said.

HEADS TOWARD GENERAL EUROPEAN SECURITY PACT

LATTER LONG DREAM OF BRIAND, TO ADD TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANT

WOULD GIVE FRANCE FEELING OF SECURITY, BEFORE ANY ARMAMENT REDUCTION

By WEBB MILLER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, March 28.—The London naval conference radically changed its course today, and is now headed towards a general European security pact, long the dream of Aristide Briand of France, supplementing the League of Nations covenant.

A committee of French and British experts began an examination of the possibility of drawing up an agreement which, without materially increasing British military obligations, would give France the feeling of security she demands before she becomes committed to armament reduction.

Briand's decision not to return, to Paris Tuesday, as he had expected, together with the statement of a spokesman for the French delegation who said flatly that the recent announcement of American views towards the so-called "consultative pact" was largely responsible for the new turn in events.

Absence of Italian representatives on the new committee of experts was explained with the statement that at present the matter is one solely for adjustment between France and Great Britain.

There is no question that Briand expects to see out of the coming negotiations the furtherance of a security pact much broader than the agreement first suggested by the French delegation.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

By LYLE C. WILSON
Washington, March 27.—Senatorial wrath beat today against Secretary of State Stimson's offer to consider openly a proposal for American participation with European nations in a consultative pact.

The furious blasts tossed conclusions reached during 48 hours of optimistic London reports into a chaos of speculation. The new-born hope in London that a five-power naval limitations agreement might, after all, be consummated by the United States, France, Great Britain, Italy and Japan, shivered in the gale of senatorial displeasure expressed by Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee, Senator George, democrat, Georgia, and Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota.

Borah's challenge of the consultative pact idea struck with devastating effect and gained force from the fact that prior to its issuance Borah conferred with Senator Swanson, Virginia, ranking democrat on both the foreign relations and naval affairs committees.

Press reports that Senators Reed and Robinson, members of the American delegation, would join in pledging the United States to consult with European powers in event of an emergency were received doubtfully on Capitol Hill. Borah called a consultative pact a security pact in disguise which could only lead the United States into trouble unless it became a pious fraud.

Shipstead said a consultative agreement would be a path to war. George said the senate would not ratify such an instrument.

Borah and Shipstead's statements vigorously dissented from Stimson's opinion that a differentiation could be made between a consultative treaty minus the implication of military support and a direct pledge of American aid in maintenance of French security.

Borah said Foreign Minister Briand of France had frankly stated he had no faith in treaties which were not backed up by armies and navies. What Briand wants, Borah continued, is a consultative pact pledging signatories, in event war is threatened, to consult and, if necessary, use force to defeat and punish a wrong-doer. There was no need, he said, to misunderstand the French position.

SAYS MINNESOTA JAILS JAMMED BY LIQUOR LAW OFFENDERS

St. Paul, March 28.—(U.P.)—L. G. Foley, federal inspector of prisons, today said Minnesota jails are jammed by prohibition law violators and a critical situation exists. Foley asked St. Cloud authorities to grant a part of the city workhouse for use as a federal jail. He said all available jail space present are filled to capacity and more can be found for only about 20 more prisoners.

The worst blizzard in the history of Chicago left a 17-inch snowfall in its wake. Above are a few of the huge army of workmen moving downtown snow in an effort to clear street car tracks.

MINNESOTA FARMER - LABOR CONVENTION NEARING ITS CLOSE

CARL E. TAYLOR OF AITKIN HAS FILED FOR THE NOMINATION

St. Paul, March 28.—(U.P.)—Endorsement of Floyd B. Olson, as gubernatorial candidate appeared certain as the closing of the Minnesota farmer-labor convention neared today.

Not only is Olson's unanimous endorsement foreseen by party leaders, but it is understood that a special plank will be inserted into the party platform, giving the candidate the free hand he demanded in a letter to the convention.

The nominations committee was reported deadlocked on an endorsement for the nomination for U. S. senator after the morning secret session. The deadlock, it was said, was over choosing between Ernest Lundeen, Minneapolis, gubernatorial candidate of two years ago, who ran against Dr. L. A. Fritzsche, New Ulm, farmer-labor endorsed candidate, and state Sen. Victor Lawson, Willmar.

Olson's announcement that he will be a candidate for governor was made in a letter read before the convention. In effect it said his name might be placed on the farmer-labor ticket but he wished to be free from party influence if elected.

The Hennepin county attorney said the republican party "is in politics to obtain patronage and special privilege." He said his own purpose is to secure efficiency and integrity in government.

He pledged himself, if elected governor, to appoint subordinates in accordance with their merit, indicating he would allow many of the republicans now holding minor positions to remain in office. He demanded "absolute independence in the selection of men and women to fill subordinate positions."

The Duluth delegation introduced a resolution calling upon Senator Henrik Shipstead to return from Washington to Minnesota to campaign for the third party until the election. It was referred to committee.

W. W. Royster of Greenwood was elected state chairman to succeed A. C. Welch of Glencoe. Committees to care for routine business of the party also were selected.

St. Paul, March 28.—Carl E. Taylor, Pallasade, Aitkin county, filed today for the farmer-labor nomination for governor.

Herman F. Sprung, who lives near Ada, Minn., also filed with Mike Holm, secretary of state, for senator from the 64th district. Peter Sharpe, Ada, is the incumbent.

IRISH FREE STATE CABINET HAS RESIGNED

Dublin, March 28.—(U.P.)—President William T. Cosgrave's government resigned today after a defeat in the dail elrann and the Finna Fall accepted responsibility of forming a new cabinet.

Resignation followed defeat of the government last night by a vote of 66 to 64 on an old-age pension bill presented by the De Valera party in the dail elrann.

Sean O'Kelly, acting leader of the Finna Fall, announced that the party was ready to nominate Eamonn De Valera, who is now in Chicago, to form a new cabinet.

HEAVIEST SNOW IN HISTORY OF CHICAGO AREA

45-HOUR STORM COST THAT CITY MORE THAN $3,000,000, IT IS ESTIMATED

HOWEVER, IT WILL BE A GOD-SEND TO FARMERS AND TRUCK GARDENERS

Chicago, March 28.—(U.P.)—Havoc was balanced with benefit today as statistics of the heaviest snowfall in the history of the Chicago area were computed.

The 45-hour storm cost Chicago more than $3,000,000, it was estimated while it was a God-send to farmers and truck gardeners whose fields needed moisture.

Items in the city's expense will include: Chicago surface lines, $1,000,000, half in loss of revenue and half in wages to 22,000 extra snow shovelers; railroads, $500,000, in similar loss; citizens and business houses, $500,000 for hotel bills; loop department stores, $500,000 in loss of business.

This was offset by the gain of rural districts in moisture for dry soil. The 19.1 and 19.2 inches of snow that fell in various districts was the equivalent of about 1.61 inches of rainfall and made up the deficiency in precipitation that had prevailed this season.

Normally was in prospect both in the city and country areas today as the heavy snow disappeared under a warm sun.

LEGGE IS TO HOLD OFFICE ANOTHER YEAR

TO CONTINUE AS CHAIRMAN OF THE FEDERAL FARM BOARD

LATTER HAS BEEN ADMINISTRATION STORM CENTER FOR MANY WEEKS

Washington, March 28.—(U.P.)—Chairman Alexander Legge of the federal farm board, an administration storm center for many weeks, has been persuaded by President Hoover to remain in office another year, it was learned authoritatively today. His first year of service expires June 15.

When he accepted leadership in the difficult task of helping the farmer, Legge expected to remain only a year. He left a $100,000-a-year position with the International Harvester Company and planned to lead the board only through the farm emergency.

President Hoover has ignored the opposition to Legge from the grain trade, led by Julius Barnes, an intimate friend and official of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

President Hoover believes the administration's farm relief plans are now in mid-stream and it would be a grave error to change leaders at this time. Plans contemplate a livestock cooperative and wide expansion of the four marketing groups already established to handle grain, cotton, bran and wool.

FOSHAY IS TACITURN ABOUT TOWER SALE

Seattle, Wash., March 28.—(U.P.)—"This is one of those things I can't make any statements about," Wilbur Foshay, head of the Foshay Building Co. at the time receivers took it over, told the United Press today when asked if he planned to oppose sale of the Foshay tower in Minneapolis.

"I saw a copy of the petition receivers drew up asking the federal court in Minneapolis to order the tower sold before I left home," Foshay said.

HEADS TOWARD GENERAL EUROPEAN SECURITY PACT

LATTER LONG DREAM OF BRITAIN, AND, TO ADD TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS COVENANT

WOULD GIVE FRANCE FEELING OF SECURITY, BEFORE ANY ARMAMENT REDUCTION

By WEBB MILLER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
London, March 28.—The London naval conference radically changed its course today, and is now headed towards a general European security pact, long the dream of Aristide Briand of France, supplementing the League of Nations covenant.

A committee of French and British experts began an examination of the possibility of drawing up an agreement which, without materially increasing British military obligations, would give France the feeling of security she demands before she becomes committed to armament reduction.

Briand's decision not to return to Paris Tuesday, as he had expected, together with the statement of a spokesman for the French delegation who said flatly that the recent announcement of American views towards the so-called "consultative pact" was largely responsible for the new turn in events.

Absence of Italian representatives on the new committee of experts was explained with the statement that at present the matter is one solely for adjustment between France and Great Britain.

There is no question that Briand expects to see out of the coming negotiations the furtherance of a security pact much broader than the agreement first suggested by the French delegation.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

By LYLE C. WILSON
Washington, March 27.—Senatorial wrath beat today against Secretary of State Stimson's offer to consider openly a proposal for American participation with European nations in a consultative pact.

The furious blasts tossed conclusions reached during 48 hours of optimistic London reports into a chaos of speculation. The new-born hope in London that a five-power naval limitations agreement might, after all, be consummated by the United States, France, Great Britain, Italy and Japan, shattered in the gale of senatorial displeasure expressed by Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee, Senator George, democrat, Georgia, and Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, Minnesota.

Borah's challenge of the consultative pact idea struck with devastating effect and gained force from the fact that prior to its issuance Borah conferred with Senator Swanson, Virginia, ranking democrat on both the foreign relations and naval affairs committees.

Press reports that Senators Reed and Robinson, members of the American delegation, would join in pledging the United States to consult with European powers in event of an emergency were received doubtfully on capitol hill. Borah called a consultative pact security pact in disguise which could only lead the United States into trouble unless it became a pious fraud.

Shipstead said a consultative agreement would be a path to war.

George said the senate would not ratify such an instrument.

Borah and Shipstead's statements vigorously dissented from Stimson's opinion that a differentiation could be made between a consultative treaty minus the implication of military support and a direct pledge of American aid in maintenance of French security.

Borah said Foreign Minister Briand of France had frankly stated he had no faith in treaties which were not backed up by armies and navies. What Briand wants, Borah continued, is a consultative pact pledging signatories, in event war is threatened, to consult and, if necessary, use force to defeat and punish a wrong-doer. There was no need, he said, to misunderstand the French position.

SAYS MINNESOTA JAILS JAMMED BY LIQUOR LAW OFFENDERS

St. Paul, March 28.—(U.P.)—L. G. Foley, federal inspector of prisons, today said Minnesota jails are jammed by prohibition law violators and a critical situation exists. Foley asked St. Cloud authorities to grant a part of the city workhouse for use as a federal jail. He said all available jails at present are filled to capacity and more can be found for only about 20 more prisoners.

One of the most sensational run-aways in some time was the one on Saturday night when a team of horses owned by Graham brothers being used by the Fifth street meat market took a dash down Front street and before they were stopped ran into a horse owned by Chief Simmons and killed it almost instantly. A young son of Chief Simmons and another lad were driving in the single rig and saw the danger ahead, but could not get out of the way before the team struck the horse and the pole of the buggy was thrust almost through the animal. One of the mysterious things about the runaway was that neither of the boys were hurt although they were thrown into the air like feathers. The buggy was demolished.

Crow Wing County Garden Flower Society In Timely Suggestions

This column will appear from time to time and will contain suggestions which the committee on publicity of the Crow Wing County Garden Flower society have selected for publication.

This is the season to look over last year's stock of bulbs, cleaning those that have not been cleaned and discarding those that show a considerable amount of rot. Rot is evidenced by brown spots on the fleshy portion of the bulb. Bulbs that show scab and rot will infect your entire stock. Those that are not badly diseased may be treated and methods of treating will be given later.

Check your bulbs and make a list of the new ones you wish to order. Try a few new ones this year. Grow the better varieties. A list of recommended varieties will be given in our next article.

Glad bulbs that show signs of sprouting should be placed in a cooler and drier place.

Plan to attend the National Flower show in Minneapolis. Our flower society has a shadowbox at the show, advertising Crow Wing county and our flower shows.

March isn't too late to give a little hint on the care of the house fern. A reliable authority says that more ferns are ruined by too much water than any other variety of plant. They should be watered when dry and watered thoroughly but not a "dab" every day. Stand the pot in a basin of water for 15 minutes, drain and return to its place. Ferns require very little water unless they are in a very dry room and a sunny spot.

Cheap bulbs and cheap seeds are sometimes an expensive investment. Buy your stock from a reliable dealer; this is especially true of glad bulbs. Bulbs grown in Minnesota usually produce the finest blooms.

If you did not apply manure to your garden last fall and your garden needs fertilizer, do so at once. Use only well rotted manure and put it on before the spring rains. A late application is perhaps worse than none at all.

Labels and stakes should be repainted. Get your tools and garden supplies ready before the rush of the planting season begins. Make a label for all the varieties. Call your glads, dahlias, etc., by name and you will like them better.

Those who have the time, patience and suitable windows that can be spared for this purpose, should remember that March and the early part of April is the time for starting the garden in the house.

Crow Wing County
Garden Flower Society
In Timely Suggestions

This column will appear from time to time and will contain suggestions which the committee on publicity of the Crow Wing County Garden Flower society have selected for publication. This is the season to look over last year's stock of bulbs, cleaning those that have not been cleaned and discarding those that show a considerable amount of rot. Rot is evidenced by brown spots on the fleshy portion of the bulb. Bulbs that show scab and rot will infect your entire stock. Those that are not badly diseased may be treated and methods of treating will be given later.

Check your bulbs and make a list of the new ones you wish to order. Try a few new ones this year. Grow the better varieties. A list of recommended varieties will be given in our next article.

Glad bulbs that show signs of sprouting should be placed in a cooler and drier place.

Plan to attend the National Flower show in Minneapolis. Our flower society has a shadowbox at the show, advertising Crow Wing county and our flower shows.

March isn't too late to give a little hint on the care of the house fern. A reliable authority says that more ferns are ruined by too much water than any other variety of plant. They should be watered when dry and watered thoroughly but not a "dab" every day. Stand the pot in a basin of water for 15 minutes, drain and return to its place. Ferns require very little water unless they are in a very dry room and a sunny spot.

Cheap bulbs and cheap seeds are sometimes an expensive investment. Buy your stock from a reliable dealer, this is especially true of glad bulbs. Bulbs grown in Minnesota usually produce the finest blooms.

If you did not apply manure to your garden last fall and your garden needs fertilizer, do so at once. Use only well rotted manure and put it on before the spring rains. A late application is perhaps worse than none at all.

Labels and stakes should be repainted. Get your tools and garden supplies ready before the rush of the planting season begins. Make a label for all the varieties. Call your glads, dahlias, etc., by name and you will like them better.

Those who have the time, patience and suitable windows that can be spared for this purpose, should remember that March and the early part of April is the time for starting the garden in the house.

School Inspectors H. E. Flynn and Theodore Utne Make Official Visit

STATE MANUAL SUPPLIED

Desirability of Continuing State Examinations in Grades and High School Stressed

School Inspectors H. E. Flynn and Theodore Utne, from the State Department of Education, have completed inspection duties in the Brainerd schools. Mr. Utne devoted his time exclusively to the new high school building and Mr. Flynn devoted his time to the four larger grade buildings.

State inspection of schools, beginning with the current year, has been placed upon a much more systematic and business like basis. A state manual is supplied to every school district, indicating in advance the important features of school organization that are to be covered in the state inspection, and a four page blank is filled out at the time of inspection with scoring to indicate features that need change or attention.

The following ten main headings are now covered in every official state inspection:

Organization: Elementary, junior high, four year high, special departments.

School Plant: Number of buildings, kind, condition, sanitary arrangements, light heat and ventilation, playground, janitor service, study hall, laboratory, library, special departments, gymnasium.

Office Records: Budget, state bulletins on file, census report, report to county superintendent, inventory of school property, record cards of non-residents, permanent records of grades in high school, state department reports, text book record, filing system and equipment.

Financial: Assessed valuation, bonded indebtedness, floating indebtedness, sinking fund, cash balance August 1, school tax rate.

Equipment: Text books in grades and high school, condition of books, character of book room, texts that are unsatisfactory, texts insufficient in quantity.

Type of room, character of service, kind of librarian, system of charging, classification of books, rank of librarian.

Science Laboratories: Equipment and apparatus.

General Equipment: Primary chairs, material for seat work, maps, globes and charts, dictionaries, encyclopedias, physical education supplies.

Pupils: Enrollment, grades and high school; attendance, grades and high school; classification, scholarship requirements and promotion; pupil load, number of pupils in industrial subjects; requirements for graduation.

Teachers: Number, grades, high school and special home teachers, grades, high school and special.

Salaries: Teachers salaries in grades, high school and special experience, grades and high school. Teaching load: grades and high school.

Curriculum: Elementary grades and high school, time allotments, methods, standards, physical education, state examination, extra curricular activities.

School Board: Organization, number of meetings per month.

School Head: Training, previous positions held, class room visitation, program of examination, conduct of teachers meeting.

The above is an abbreviated outline of the items covered in an annual inspection from the state department. At least six separate inspectors visit the local schools each year and after their visit meet with the superintendent and offer suggestions or criticisms for the betterment of the schools.

On the recent inspection this week both inspectors stressed the desirability of continuing the state examinations in both grades and high school. State examinations in the high school were discontinued while the high school was in temporary quarters because of the lack of facilities for holding the examinations in temporary quarters.

The inspectors called attention to the fact that in the state examinations last year in the grades the Brainerd schools ranked in the upper quarter of all the schools in the state, in the number of pupils passing the examination successfully and with high marks. The Brainerd schools had only 7 percent failures in the state examinations last year in the grades, whereas the average number of failures for the state, as a whole, was 23 percent.

Brainerd had 43 percent of its papers marked pass +, or in the upper quarter of all papers marked, whereas the average for the state, as a whole, was only 27 percent.

The state examinations now offered are prepared on a strictly scientific basis by experts and the passing mark is not determined until after the papers are read at the state department.

In each subject, one-fourth of the papers, receiving the highest standing, are given a mark of pass +, the next

The Work of a Flea

THE flea is a very small insect, but inoculated with the germs of the pneumonic plague, it becomes a deadly menace. The flea clings to the rat, multiplies rapidly and soon has the rats so thoroughly inhabited that whole colonies of the fleas leap to humans and biting arms, legs or bodies, soon communicate the dread plague.

A flea, as every California visitor and Minnesota pioneer of the lumberjack days knows, has a record for the high jump and the broad jump. If the energy of a flea were transmitted proportionately to a mule, the jackass would be able to jump three blocks. All legs of a flea are equally aggressive and so the mule would become a dangerous animal on all four fronts.

When the pneumonic plague makes its appearance at an American port, be it San Francisco, New Orleans or New York, with as low a percentage as two rats out of a thousand examined being dread carriers, there is an immediate investigation and a thorough one at that. The house harboring the dread rats is leveled to the ground. Sheet iron paling is driven around the lot to prevent escape of rats.

The new theory regarding bubonic and pneumonic plague and now gaining extensive practice is to stamp out the disease at its source. And that is why the primary investigations and research work of Dr. Percy T. Watson of the Congregational hospital service in the Far East have been of such great value.

In his address at the Rotary club Dr. Watson told how vaccination stemmed the ravages of bubonic plague, but nothing can be done in that way to guard against extension of pneumonic pestilence. Dr. Watson, his doctors and nurses entered plague areas in China, kept cases on the disease and aided in localizing and reducing plague ravages. Victims stricken are sick from 12 to 36 hours and die sitting up. In 1910 Manchuria lost 60,000 persons by black death. In those many cases there was but one man known to have successfully resisted exposure.

Dr. Watson told of his experiences in a matter of fact way, but every step in that plague area was fraught with hidden danger.

There is a great friendly background in China. Never in his 21 years' residence there has the doctor had any dispute in commercial accounts or in other ways. Merchants are scrupulously honest and seek to carry out every obligation. China is inherently democratic and will gradually work out its destiny. American friendship to China is a tradition and has been fostered from the days of Commodore Perry.

On Europa as She Breaks Record

ALWAYS in the heart of big events, Captain and Mrs. W. H. Fawcett had the honor to be passengers on the Europa when the ship, in her maiden voyage, broke the world's record for a westward crossing of the Atlantic, and broke the Bremen's record, a sister ship, by 18 minutes.

Writing to friends, Captain Fawcett states that perhaps the most thrilling and symbolic event of the trip happened shortly after they left Cherbourg and started across the English channel. At this time, as they passed the sister ship, the Bremen, they were not over two miles apart. Just as they passed her, there arose midway between the two fleetest greyhounds of the Atlantic, a British submarine. All realized she came to the surface to get a glimpse of the two liners, but it gave Captain Fawcett a sudden twinge to think that this single underwater craft could have dealt almost certain disaster to the mistresses of the Atlantic fleet. The Europa is so fast that it seemed as though passengers went to sleep in Cherbourg and awoke in New York.

The ship steams smoothly and her speed enables her to cut through storms with a minimum of discomfort.

Upon his return from his African hunting trip where he bagged three lions, a rhinoceros and other trophies, the Captain and Mrs. Fawcett visited continental Europe and in France made a tour of the battlefields including Verdun, Chateau Thierry, Belleau Woods, etc.

Brainerd as a Central Point

BRAINERD continues to gain prestige as a central point to hold debates as well as basketball games.

It has been made the debate center of Eveleth and Hawley high school debating teams who will take up the question, "The Abolition of the Present Petty Jury System."

Brainerd was selected as a convenient midway point for the two towns, Eveleth located in northern Minnesota and Hawley in the southern part of the state. Outside judges will officiate. The teams each have three debaters and will be accompanied by their friends.

The debate is open to the public, no admission being charged, and will be held this Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. If attendance is small, it will be staged in a study room. If the attendance is large, as it ought to be to show our appreciation of the selection of Brainerd as a debate center, the debate will be held in the high school auditorium.

ONE does not have to be a flapper, beautiful and heart breaking, to be a success in the feminine world of the films. Witness Marie Dressler, who will never see forty again, who has embonpoint, but nevertheless shows sincerity, in all her work and has achieved success after success.

"MASTER of MONEY"
BY ROY VICKERS

CHAPTER XLII.

BEFORE two hours had passed, the dazzling white of the road gave her a violent headache and the jolting of the car over the ruts made every muscle in her body ache. She dared not stop and rest, from fear of molestation from the native travelers. Approaching a party of three or four in the car she was safe enough, because they assumed that the car contained armed men. By the time they discovered their mistake the car had passed them. She had more than once seen disappointment in their faces.

She had still some twenty miles to cover when a line of motor lorries came round the bend.

"Alan's gang?" she told herself. She stopped the car and held up her hand, wishing to inquire if he were with them, but the drivers took no notice.

As the twenty of them came, one by one, round the bend, she waited breathlessly to see if Alan's car would come, too. If Alan were here he would come and drive her car and she could rest and she would have made her journey for nothing and he would laugh at her.

The lorries had passed her but there was no sign of Alan. Perhaps he was a mile or so in the rear. She started forward again. She remembered that the lorries could only take half the gang. He wouldn't leave the others behind, she told herself.

She drove on for another hour and, turning a bend, had just time to apply her brakes to avoid running into the head of the column of the returning troops. The road was narrow and the column perforce halted and then, at a word of command, fell out and rested by the roadside. Shirley got out of the car and approached the officer in command.

From him she learned that Alan was keeping half his gang indefinitely and refused to move. The officer was an intelligent man who evidently had a considerable liking for Alan. He urged her to do all in her power to make him return to the city and, profoundly regretting that he could not provide her with a personal escort, gave her directions for reaching her destination. But his tone was gloomy—he seemed to take it for granted that she would fail.

It was six o'clock by the time she reached the village of Carcass and, following the officer's directions, passed through it and took the track made by Alan, which branched off the main road, for his lorries. For three miles the track wound through a gorge, then suddenly gave on to a wide valley.

Immediately in front of her was the camp and, less than a quarter of a mile away the remnant of the gang at work. To the side of the camp was a workshop where two mechanics were engaged in mending a motor-lorry. She drew the car up near them, made them understand that the car and its contents were the property of Alan, and then went in search of him.

He was on horseback, riding from party to party, directing them, and she saw him at once though he did not see her. He had ridden obliquely to within a few yards of her and wheeled around so that his back was towards her. The strength of the sun had gone and he was hatless. He wore only riding breeches and a shirt that was open at the neck and seemed to have no sleeves.

She hurried forward, forgetting

her headache and her fatigue, and felt under his shoulders

"Hello, Alan!"

He flung his horse round and gaped at her.

"Shirley! What on earth are you doing here?" He stared at her, at first incredulously, then angrily. "Why have you come? Why the devil have you come, Shirley?"

"I heard last night that the troops were going to be withdrawn!" she answered breathlessly. "I heard you were staying on. And so—I came."

"But, my dear girl, what for?" It was a difficult question to answer, standing by his horse. It would be impossible to start a discussion there and then. So she said nothing.

"You can't stay, Shirley," he was saying. "It's no place at all for a woman. You'll lie my hands if there's any trouble. We'll have a meal presently, and then you must go back tonight."

She felt him glaring down at her as though she were a schoolgirl who had played a silly prank.

"I am not going away, Alan. I shall stay here as long as you do," she said. She tried to speak firmly but knew that her voice sounded merely stubborn.

"But—" He checked an angry retort. "You look tired out," he said more gently. "How did you get here?"

"Drove myself," she answered. "You go on with what you're doing, Alan. We can talk later."

He glanced at his watch. "In less than an hour we shall be through for the day," he answered. "Do you see that shack over there with the iron roofing? Those are my quarters. You go up there and rest—and we can have a talk when I'm through."

She skirted the gorge and made her way to the shack. By the side of it was a smaller shack where Alan's Greek servant was peeling potatoes. He took no notice of her and she passed inside. It was no more than a shed but there was plenty of space. Its furniture consisted of a table, a desk with rude office fittings and a plank bed with a mattress and blankets.

She sank onto the bed, took off her hat and then her shoes. "I've nearly an hour to rest in—thank heaven!" she muttered, then stretched herself on the bed. She had meant merely to lie down and think, but almost before her head touched the pillow, she was asleep.

She awoke with a start and sat up on the bed. The daylight had gone and from behind her came the light from a lamp. She looked about her in alarm. She could just remember coming into a roomy shed, and this one was small.

"Feeling well enough to get up and have something to eat?"—or would you rather go straight to bed?"

Alan's voice came from behind her. He was sitting at the desk with his papers before him.

"Food!" said Shirley instantly, for she had discovered a ravenous appetite. "My headache has gone, thank goodness. How long have I been asleep? I didn't mean to go to sleep at all."

"It's not quite ten—you've had about three hours of it—and you looked as if you jolly well needed it," answered Alan.

"Something has happened to this place—it looks different from when I came into it."

"Petros and I rigged up quarters for you—behind there—while you were asleep. We managed a camp bed for you, which is more comfortable than mine—and your things have been got up from the car."

"Thanks! I'll go and spruce up," said Shirley.

The partition was made of sackcloth roughly fixed together. In the next few minutes Shirley taught herself that one can get as clean with a gasoline tin and a sufficiency of water as in the most luxurious bath. While she was finishing her toilet she could hear the Greek servant bringing in the meal.

"Ready when you are, Shirley!" called Alan.

"Just coming!" she answered, and came.

They sat down together to a meal of roast mutton and potatoes. "There's nothing to follow except tinned peaches," said Alan grimly, "so eat all you can."

While they were dining he asked questions about the house in Kalamaria and she gave him small gossip of her doings since he had left.

"The moon is getting up," he said as they finished. "We can sit outside, if you like. We can run to a couple of deck chairs."

"I'd love to!" she answered. "Aren't you going to smoke?"

"I've run short of tobacco." She disappeared into her half of the shack while Alan got the deck chairs ready. She was inordinately pleased that she had brought the tobacco on the chance of his needing it. There were two large tins and she dropped them onto the open deck chair. He sat on them and swore under his breath. Then they both laughed.

For a fleeting instant, in that wild hinterland, they had recaptured that spirit of fun that had so often taken them by surprise when Shirley had first come to live in his flat near Gramercy Park.

"Now you may as well own up that you're glad I came," she said, as she took the chair beside him. "I am not," he answered gravely.

"What is the game, Shirley?" Shirley did not immediately answer. Her thoughts were on the scene before her—the tents of the laborers' camp gleaming white and ghostly in the moonlight against the dark overhanging crag of the mountain. Some of the laborers were singing a queer, tuneless, un-rhythmic song like a Gregorian chant. She shivered a little. It was unnatural that men should sing like that. There was wildness in the song and some other element that frightened the imagination—history, perhaps.

She had the feeling that men had begun to sing like that thousands and thousands of years ago. These men could handle electric drills and mend motor cars, but their spiritual primitiveness remained. These men were Alan's servants, willing to obey him. . . . She wondered if the comitadjis sang like that.

"I came because I've failed you, Alan," she answered presently. "Stavros and a whole lot of others say that it isn't safe here without the troops. I couldn't hire a car—I had to buy that one."

"It isn't your fault," he protested. "You couldn't prevent the troops being withdrawn."

"Yes I could. Maurois gave me the chance to prevent them being withdrawn—last night." She stopped, then added: "There was an easy way of keeping the troops here."

She saw him wince and herself grow stronger.

The Work of a Flea

THE flea is a very small insect, but inoculated with the germs of the pneumonic plague, it becomes a deadly menace. The flea clings to the rat, multiplies rapidly and soon has the rats so thoroughly inhabited that whole colonies of the fleas leap to humans and biting arms, legs or bodies, soon communicate the dread plague.

A flea, as every California visitor and Minnesota pioneer of the lumberjack days knows, has a record for the high jump and the broad jump. If the energy of a flea were transmitted proportionately to a mule, the jackass would be able to jump three blocks. All legs of a flea are equally aggressive and so the mule would become a dangerous animal on all four fronts.

When the pneumonic plague makes its appearance at an American port, be it San Francisco, New Orleans or New York, with as low a percentage as two rats out of a thousand examined being dread carriers, there is an immediate investigation and a thorough one at that. The house harboring the dread rats is leveled to the ground. Sheet iron paling is driven around the lot to prevent escape of rats.

The new theory regarding bubonic and pneumonic plague and now gaining extensive practice is to stamp out the disease at its source. And that is why the primary investigations and research work of Dr. Percy T. Watson of the Congregational hospital service in the Far East have been of such great value.

In his address at the Rotary club Dr. Watson told how vaccination stemmed the ravages of bubonic plague, but nothing can be done in that way to guard against extension of pneumonic pestilence. Dr. Watson, his doctors and nurses entered plague areas in China, kept cases on the disease and aided in localizing and reducing plague ravages. Victims stricken are sick from 12 to 36 hours and die sitting up. In 1910 Manchuria lost 60,000 persons by black death. In those many cases there was but one man known to have successfully resisted exposure.

Dr. Watson told of his experiences in a matter of fact way, but every step in that plague area was fraught with hidden danger. There is a great friendly background in China. Never in his 21 years' residence there has the doctor had any dispute in commercial accounts or in other ways. Merchants are scrupulously honest and seek to carry out every obligation. China is inherently democratic and will gradually work out its destiny. American friendship to China is a tradition and has been fostered from the days of Commodore Perry.

On Europa as She Breaks Record

ALWAYS in the heart of big events, Captain and Mrs. W. H. Fawcett had the honor to be passengers on the Europa when the ship, in her maiden voyage, broke the world's record for a westward crossing of the Atlantic, and broke the Bremen's record, a sister ship, by 18 minutes.

Writing to friends, Captain Fawcett states that perhaps the most thrilling and symbolic event of the trip happened shortly after they left Cherbourg and started across the English channel. At this time, as they passed the sister ship, the Bremen, they were not over two miles apart. Just as they passed her, there arose midway between the two fleetest greyhounds of the Atlantic, a British submarine. All realized she came to the surface to get a glimpse of the two liners, but it gave Captain Fawcett a sudden twinge to think that this single underwater craft could have dealt almost certain disaster to the mistresses of the Atlantic fleet. The Europa is so fast that it seemed as though passengers went to sleep in Cherbourg and awoke in New York.

The ship steams smoothly and her speed enables her to cut through storms with a minimum of discomfort.

Upon his return from his African hunting trip where he bagged three lions, a rhinoceros and other trophies, the Captain and Mrs. Fawcett visited continental Europe and in France made a tour of the battlefields including Verdun, Chateau Thierry, Belleau Woods, etc.

Brainerd as a Central Point

BRAINERD continues to gain prestige as a central point to hold debates as well as basketball games.

It has been made the debate center of Eveleth and Hawley high school debating teams who will take up the question, "The Abolition of the Present Petty Jury System."

Brainerd was selected as a convenient midway point for the two towns, Eveleth located in northern Minnesota and Hawley in the southern part of the state. Outside judges will officiate. The teams each have three debaters and will be accompanied by their friends.

The debate is open to the public, no admission being charged, and will be held this Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. If attendance is small, it will be staged in a study room. If the attendance is large, as it ought to be to show our appreciation of the selection of Brainerd as a debate center, the debate will be held in the high school auditorium.

ONE does not have to be a flapper, beautiful and heart breaking, to be a success in the feminine world of the films. Witness Marie Dressler, who will never see forty again, who has embossed point, but nevertheless shows sincerity, in all her work and has achieved success after success.

"MASTER of MONEY"

BY ROY VICKERS

CHAPTER XLII.

BEFORE two hours had passed, the dazzling white of the road gave her a violent headache and the jolting of the car over the ruts made every muscle in her body ache. She dared not stop and rest, from fear of molestation from the native travelers. Approaching a party of three or four in the car she was safe enough, because they assumed that the car contained armed men. By the time they discovered their mistake the car had passed them. She had more than once seen disappointment in their faces. She had still some twenty miles to cover when a line of motor lorries came round the bend.

"Alan's gang!" she told herself. She stopped the car and held up her hand, wishing to inquire if he were with them, but the drivers took no notice.

As the twenty of them came, one by one, round the bend, she waited breathlessly to see if Alan's car would come, too. If Alan were here he would come and drive her car and she could rest and she would have made her journey for nothing and he would laugh at her. The lorries had passed her but there was no sign of Alan. Perhaps he was a mile or so in the rear. She started forward again. She remembered that the lorries could only take half the gang. He wouldn't leave the others behind, she told herself.

She drove on for another hour and, turning a bend, had just time to apply her brakes to avoid running into the head of the column of the returning troops. The road was narrow and the column perforce halted and then, at a word of command, fell out and rested by the roadside. Shirley got out of the car and approached the officer in command.

From him she learned that Alan was keeping half his gang indefinitely and refused to move. The officer was an intelligent man who evidently had a considerable liking for Alan. He urged her to do all in her power to make him return to the city and, profoundly regretting that he could not provide her with a personal escort, gave her directions for reaching her destination. But his tone was gloomy—he seemed to take it for granted that she would fail.

It was six o'clock by the time she reached the village of Caresno and, following the officer's directions, passed through it and took the track made by Alan, which branched off the main road, for his lorries. For three miles the track wound through a gorge, then suddenly gave on to a wide valley.

Immediately in front of her was the camp and, less than a quarter of a mile away the remnant of the gang at work. To the side of the camp was a workshop where two mechanics were engaged in mending a motor-lorry. She drew the car up near them, made them understand that the car and its contents were the property of Alan, and then went in search of him.

He was on horseback, riding from party to party, directing them, and she saw him at once though he did not see her. He had ridden obliquely to within a few yards of her and wheeled around so that his back was towards her. The strength of the sun had gone and he was hatless. He wore only riding breeches and a shirt that was open at the neck and seemed to have no sleeves.

She hurried forward, forgetting

things have been got up from the car."

"Hello, Alan!"

He flung his horse round and gaped at her.

"Shirley! What on earth are you doing here?" He stared at her, at first incredulously, then angrily.

"Why have you come? Why the devil have you come, Shirley?"

MOORHEAD MEETS CHISHOLM, RED WING VS MECHANIC ARTS

WEEDING OUT PROCESS HAS BEEN COMPLETED

BASKETBALL FANS ANTICIPATE TWO EXCITING SEMI-FINAL GAMES TONIGHT

MOORHEAD CHAMPIONS PAST 2 YEARS, RED WING WON 2ND HONORS LAST YEAR

By HILLIER KRIEGBAUM
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Minneapolis, Minn., March 28.—With the weeding out process completed, basketball fans today anticipated two exciting semi-final games tonight in the contest for the state championship.

Moorhead, champions for the past two years, will play Chisholm at 8 P. M., and Red Wing, who won second honors last year, will meet Mechanic Arts, St. Paul, at 9 P. M.

Moorhead won the right to enter the semi-finals when they made their 5th consecutive victory over Wells. The score was 27 to 10. The last year's champions held Wells to only one field goal.

Coach Glenn Hanna's team won their game by a larger margin of points than any other first round contest played yesterday. They led Wells by 17 points. Earl Moran, who has been all-state guard for two years and is playing in his fifth state tournament, and Carrol Malvey, another 1929 all-state player, accounted for 17 points between them. Moran was shifted to forward this year after the team lost two games, one to Fargo and one to Grand Forks.

Chisholm played a fighting game after taking the small end of a 9 to 3 score at the half to win from Redwood Falls, 26 to 13. The first half looked desperate for the range team with Redwood Falls leading all the time. But in the second half they went into the lead and then Redwood Falls weakened from the strong pace in the final period.

This year was the first since 1924 when Two Harbors won the championship, that a range basketball team has survived the opening round at the state tournament.

Red Wing's scrappy fighters came through over Appleton with the score of 34 to 21. It was largest score rolled up during any game yesterday. Red Wing took an early lead and maintained it throughout the contest which was witnessed by more than 1,000 fans from Red Wing by special train and bus caravans.

Led by Jimmy Deimont, who made six field goals to score more points than any other in the tournament to date, Mechanic Arts won 31 to 15 over Columbia Heights.

Moorhead, Red Wing and Mechanic Arts were in the semi-finals last year. Chisholm this year takes the place of St. Cloud, who lost to Moorhead.

The cumulative score at the end of each period for yesterday's contests was as follows:

Moorhead	4-8-15-27
Wells	0-3-6-10
Chisholm	0-3-13-26
Redwood Falls	3-9-12-13
Red Wing	13-25-31-34
Appleton	10-14-19-21
Mechanic Arts	6-11-23-31
Columbia Heights	1-7-9-15

In today's consolation series, Wells will play Redwood Falls at 3 P. M. and Appleton will battle Columbia Heights at 4 P. M.

TOURNAMENT SIDELIGHTS

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28.—(U.P.)—Three bands enlivened the time out at the state high school basketball tournament yesterday. And each band's team won so that there will be three bands at the two evening semi-final games tonight. Red Wing, Chisholm and Mechanic Arts have the musical representatives.

Whenever Red Wing made a good play or basket last night a siren would screech above the shouts of the spectators and could be heard long after the cheers stopped resounding throughout the field house.

Three policemen who were assigned to maintain order in the gymnasium got a chance to see the games free.

Boy Scouts act as ushers for the tournament.

Redwood Falls has a girl cheer leader in the person of Miss Freda Laudor, who vainly attempted to cheer the team's supporters into such a frenzy the team could not lose. Redwood Falls has two girls to assist a boy cheer leader.

Earl Moran, Moorhead forward, will be the last player ever to compete in five state tournaments. A new ruling adopted at the board meeting this week limits players to eight semesters. Moran competed as a junior high school student.

Under a new regulation, the winner of this year's tournament will not compete in national tournaments.

Seven Moorhead students hitch-hiked here for the tournament. They had such good luck they arrived before the team although they thought they would be lucky if they arrived for the semi-final game tonight.

Moorhead, Chisholm and Red Wing fans at home received the play by play account of their teams' playing direct from the field house.

NORTHERN STATES POWER SMASHES 3 HIGH RECORDS

LAST NIGHT LADIES ROLLED 3-GAME TOTAL WITH 2263

ELAINE HARTLEY BREAKS HIGH SINGLE GAME RECORD WITH 218

The Northern States Power team smashed three high records for the season last evening. They rolled high 3-game total with 2263. Cottage Grill formerly held this record with 2187. They came within four pins of high single game of 804 which the Cottage Grill holds. These records were due to Elaine Hartley's star bowling. She broke high single game record with a 218 count, collecting seven strikes, and she also took down Mrs. Hagberg's high total of 461 with a 542 total. Her game was 218, 135 and 189, a split in the final frame of the last game robbing her of another 200 count. This puts her first in averages with 125 plus 5 pins and Mrs. Swanson second with 124 plus 35 pins. The team won two games, losing the last game to Service News by 12 pins. Gertrude McGarry rolled high for Service News with 442. Her games were 147, 138 and 157.

The Princess Kandy Kids defeated the Cottage Grill in two games. They lost the second game by 11 pins. L. Gravelle was high in this match with 432. Her second game of 163 was high also. Devens rolled high for Princess Kandy with 391, her scores being 154, 117 and 120.

CRISLER BACK AT UNIVERSITY IN ACTIVE CHARGE

SPORTS ACTIVITIES BEGIN TO MOVE MORE RAPIDLY AT THE UNIVERSITY

HOLDOVERS FROM LAST YEAR'S TEAM SEEM TO BE PROMISING MATERIAL

Minneapolis, Minn., March 28.—(U.P.)—With Herbert (Fritz) Crisler back at the University of Minnesota to assume active charge as director of athletics and football coach, sports activities began to move more rapidly.

Spring football practice will open Monday under Crisler's direction.

Vincent Richards will come here on April 8 for an exhibition match and rumors were circulating that he was to confer with Crisler regarding a position as tennis coach at the university.

The Minnesota relays will be held April 5 with teams from all over the midwestern competing.

The holdovers from last year's football team seem promising and the freshman material, while rather select, is expected to be of considerable assistance to Crisler in building his 1930 team which will play Southern California in Minnesota's first appearance on the Pacific coast.

Men who played last year include: Ends—Anderson, Hoefler, Kresowzsky, Norgaard and Oylsen.

Tackles—Munn, Berry and Emlein. Guards—Teeter, Reihsen and Gross. Centers—Koski and Stein.

Fullbacks—Manders and Burdick. Other backfield positions—Brockmeyer, Riebeth, Kirk, Somers, Leksell, Haas, Brownell and Timm.

Candidates from last year's freshman squad will include:

Center—Wells. Guards—Semson and Donnelly. Tackles—Lund and Anderson. Ends—Robinson, Hall and Diller.

SENATOR NYE SEEKS THE EXPULSION OF SENATOR GRUNDY

Washington, March 28.—(U.P.)—Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, will call up for action in the senate next Tuesday his resolution asking the expulsion of Senator Grundy, republican, Pennsylvania. The resolution was rejected by the privileges and elections committee.

Though Nye has no hope for adoption of his resolution, his action will open the way for debate on Grundy's former lobbying activities and his influence upon the tariff bill.

Nye alleges Grundy raised $400,000 for the campaign fund of Governor Fisher who appointed him to the vacancy created when the senate denied William S. Vare a seat.

RAPID CITY, S. D., SENDS INVITATION TO AL CAPONE

Rapid City, S. D., March 28.—(U.P.)—Dan Evans, secretary of the Rapid City Chamber of Commerce, has invited Alphonse (Scarface) Capone to come here to "trod the 'straight and narrow,' forget his past and live an un-molested life from now on."

Evans said today he had sent a letter to the Chicago gangster who has been ordered out of his home town after he returned from serving a sentence in a Philadelphia penitentiary.

The invitation to Capone was drafted at a Chamber of Commerce meeting in which Evans said "he has never been convicted of any crime, and a man always is innocent until he is proven guilty."

Wild-Fighting West of Gerould Novel

With the exception of scenes taken in the Spanish hacienda, the entire locale for "Romance of Rio Grande," the thrilling all talking Fox movie-tone picture showing at the Paramount Saturday only is laid in the wild regions of the arid south-west, below the Rio Grande.

When all the vast facilities of the Fox Studio were enlisted to create a new western drama on an expansive scale, it was decided to take no chances on missing the realism contained in "Conquistador," the Katherine Fullerton Gerould novel from which the film version was adapted.

To gain its pictorial magnificence, Alfred Santell, the director, explored that section of northern Arizona and New Mexico which provided the background for Miss Gerould's pulsating romance of the wild west. Here he had access to the small stretch of unsettled territory existing in the United States where the adventures of the scale, it was decided to take no pioneers were reenacted.

WANTS HORSE AND SADDLE TO TAKE CENSUS IN HIS AREA

Milwaukee, Wis., March 28.—(U.P.)—A message asking that a horse and saddle be furnished for the man who will do the census taking for the tenth district of Milwaukee has been sent to Washington by Alfred E. Mendel, supervisor for the district.

The district was added to the city recently and it has few sidewalks or paved streets.

Mendel believes that because of spring thaws and rains it will be impossible for the census man to make the rounds by foot or automobile. Consequently, his plea to the government to furnish a horse and saddle.

FIGHTS DEMON RUM IN PAMPA, TEXAS

Pampa, Tex., March 28.—(U.P.)—Ben-lah Allred, who has fought "demon rum" in various and sundry battles walked down Pampa's main street waving a bottle of liquor as evidence of Pampa's "wetness" and thereby rested in a jail cell today while battling the district attorney.

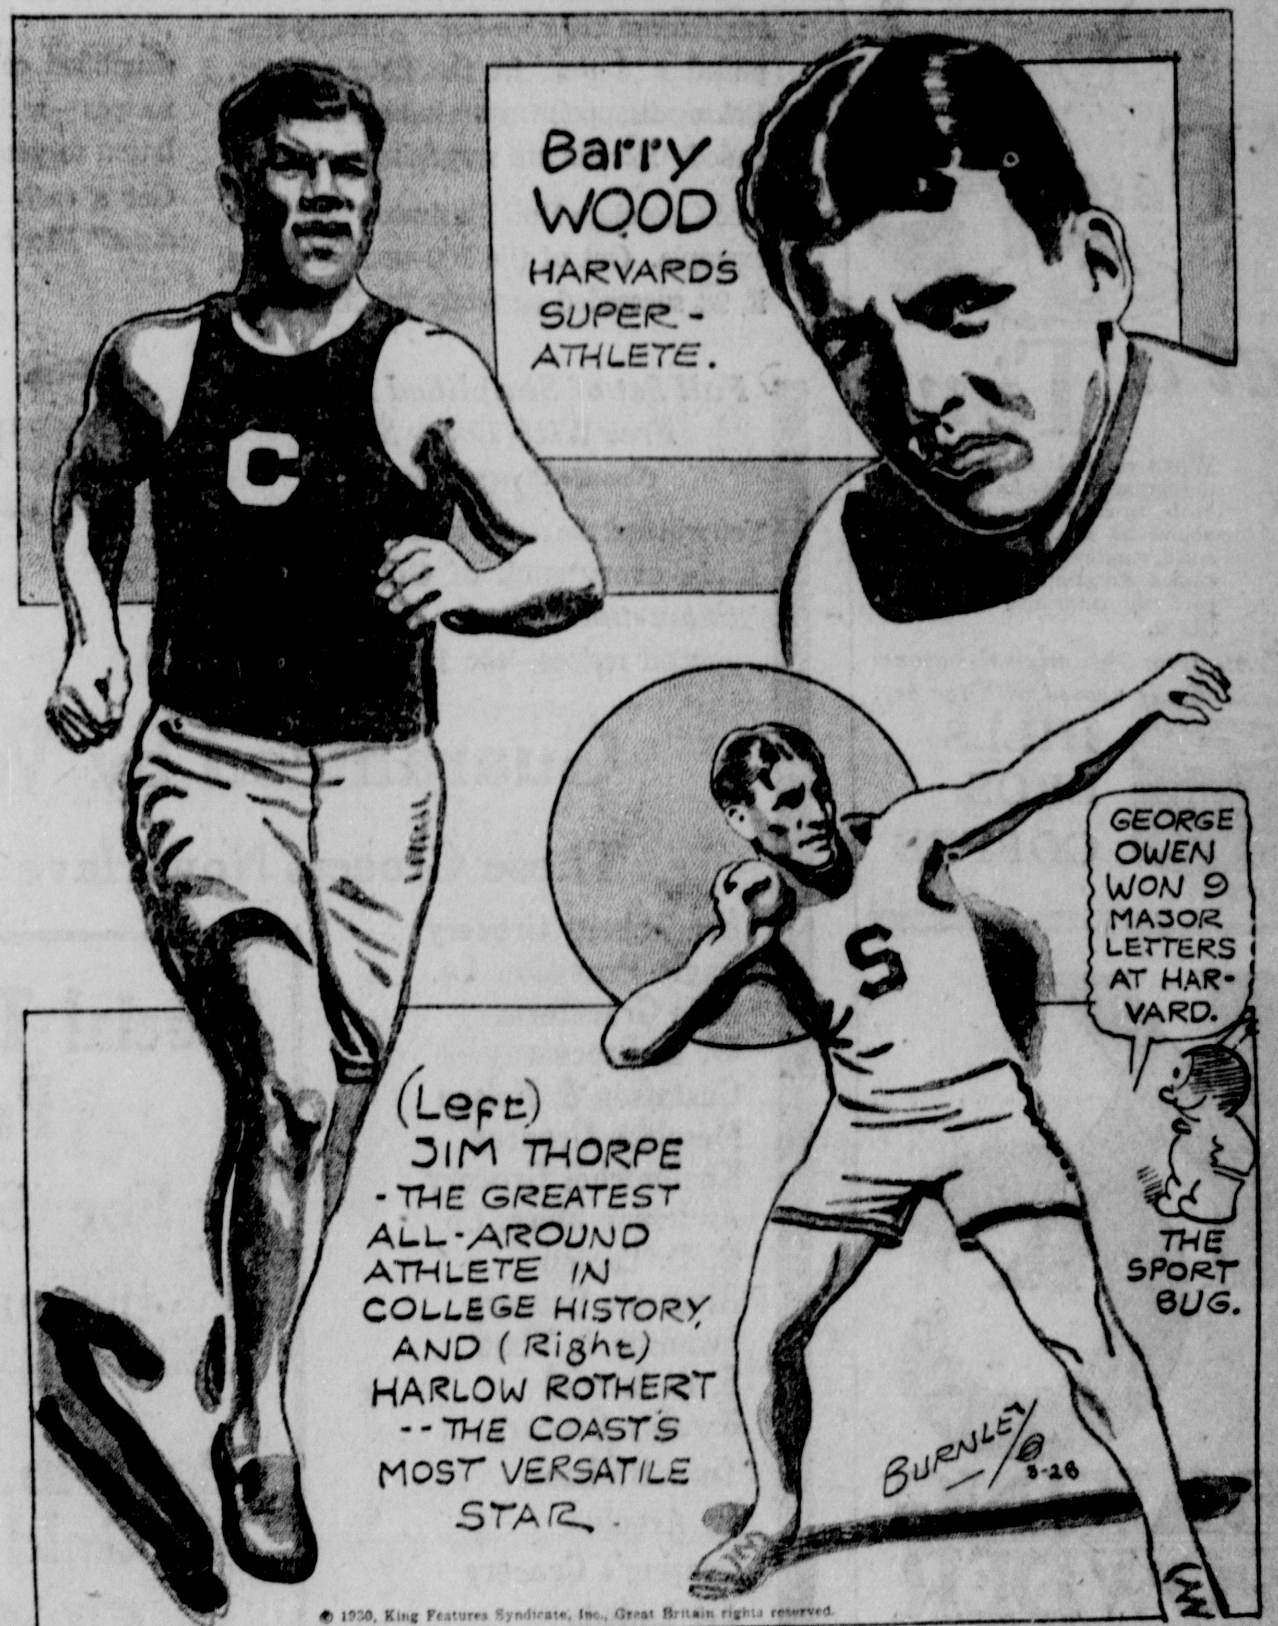

District Attorney Clifford Braly, dubbing her "a woman with a half-Carrie-Nation idea of raising a hullabaloo," holds her accountable for indictment on illegal transportation of liquor. Miss Allred, a spinster, refuses to make $50 bond.

Versatile Varsity Stars

By HARDIN BURNLEY

THORPE—James, of pure Sac and Fox Indian lineage—is the name that always comes to mind when one thinks of athletic versatility. "Jim" was a wonder man at football, baseball, and on the track when a student at Carlisle about twenty years ago. He was even more marvelous for many years after leaving school and, in the opinion of many capable judges, Thorpe was the greatest all-round athlete of all time. "Jim" became a professional but—if sheer love of athletics was the sole standard of judging the genuine amateur—this remarkable Indian would be classed among the purest of simon pures. So much now for this sporting paragon who could do so many strenuous things superlatively or superbly well.

In our colleges today, we have some youths who remind many of Thorpe in his days of glory. There is William Barry Wood of Harvard—great in his second college year as a quarterback, a varsity baseball player, a hockey star, a meritorious golfer, and so able at tennis that he will qualify for membership on the 1930 U. S. Davis Cup team! Think of it girls—Wood is handsome, and he's not yet 21 years old. He has two more years at Harvard. Can you imagine what intercollegiate records Barry will pile up in that time?

Harlow Rothert, called "the perfect athlete" by "Dink" Templeton, his track coach at Stanford, is another wonder man. He's a discus thrower, shot-putter and javelin hurler of extraordinary ability. And at football Rothert is a stellar back. Besides, he's captain of the varsity basketball team.

Wood's sophomore rival, Albie Booth, of Yale, will give Barry stiff competition for versatility honors, too, for "The Mighty Mid-get" (two years older than Wood) is an All ace at football, baseball and basketball. Their grid and diamond duels for the next two years should add some startling chapters to Yale-Harvard annals.

Yes, Wood, Rothert, Booth and a few others are carrying on creditably the versatility laurels of the already historic "Jim" Thorpe.

There is William Barry Wood of Harvard—great in his second college year as a quarterback, a varsity baseball player, a hockey star, a meritorious golfer, and so able at tennis that he will qualify for membership on the 1930 U. S. Davis Cup team! Think of it girls—Wood is handsome, and he's not yet 21 years old. He has two more years at Harvard. Can you imagine what intercollegiate records Barry will pile up in that time?

Harlow Rotherth, called "the perfect athlete" by "Dink" Templeton, his track coach at Stanford, is another wonder man. He's a discus thrower, shot-putter and javelin hurler of extraordinary ability. And at football Rotherth is a stellar back. Besides, he's captain of the varsity basketball team.

Wood's sophomore rival, Albie Booth, of Yale, will give Barry stiff competition for versatility honors, too, for "The Mighty Mid-get" (two years older than Wood) is an All-ace at football, baseball and basketball. Their grid and diamond duels for the next two years should add some startling chapters to Yale-Harvard annals.

Yes, Wood, Rotherth, Booth and a few others are carrying on creditably the versatility laurels of the already historic "Jim" Thorpe.

SURPRISINGLY SIMPLE NOW to make CHOCOLATE ROLL THIS NEW WAY

Mixing Time Only 8 Minutes. 100 Women Tried the Simplified Recipe for This Novel "Party" Dessert and 98 Succeeded Perfectly the First Time

WOMEN everywhere are changing to a new and far simpler way in baking—GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour and Special "Kitchen-tested" Recipes.

"Kitchen-tested" Flour means a flour "Kitchen-tested" in a home oven just like yours at the mill before it goes to you. Thus a flour unvarying in result and that acts the same way with a given recipe EVERY TIME.

"Kitchen-tested" recipes mean recipes that are likewise "Kitchen-tested", greatly simplified and that fit the flour exactly. Baking disappointments hence are largely ended. Results are surprising.

The Chocolate Roll illustrated here is an example. Out of the 100 women trying it, 98 succeeded perfectly the first time.

THREE BRAINERD YOUNG PEOPLE ARE CANDIDATES

Ross Olmsted, Stuart Patterson and Lily Olson Among 14 Nominees

BALLOTING CONTINUES TODAY

Four Will be Chosen to Represent Minnesota at International Convention

Three Brainerd young people, Ross Olmsted, Lily Olson and Stuart Patterson were chosen this afternoon as candidates to be delegates at the international convention to be held in June at Toronto, Canada. Other candidates were Margaret Briggs, Mary Margaret Burnett, Vera Day, Pauline Radford, Evelyn Hall, Dorothy Strunk, Theodore Jones, Bill George, Bill McElroan, Bob Zimmer and Howard Jones, at the election held today at the State Young People's Conference.

The balloting continued this afternoon on who the four representatives would be. There will be two boys and two girls chosen. Of the boys, the highest will be president and the second highest will be second vice president. Of the girls, the one receiving the highest number of ballots will be first vice president, the other will be secretary.

At the meeting yesterday afternoon, the election of representatives on the State Young People's Council from each county was as follows: Crow Wing county, Louise Clausen; Winona, Irwin Bublitz; Stearns and Benton, Lois Bailey; Dodge, Richard Grant; Hennepin, Ed Batchelor; Ramsey, Howard Jones; Wright, Ben Jensen; Ottertail, Neva Barker; Fillmore, Claire Dotzenrodt; Hubbard, Wm. Rosneau; Morrison, Clifford Buck; Todd, Reuben Winkelmann; Blue Earth, Wm. George; Itasca, Alzata Titus and Beltrami, Bob Zimmer.

Those on the nominating committee elected yesterday afternoon were: Crow Wing county, Ross Olmsted; Rice, Carol Heid; Winona, Mildred Spencer; Stearns and Benton, Arlotta Saltres; Dodge, Merlin Batzel; Hennepin, Betty Fraser; Ramsey, Pauline Radford; St. Louis, Howard Mace; Wright, Nola Faust; Ottertail, Mary Margaret Burnett; Steele, Russell Stray; Fillmore, Clair Dotzenrodt; Hubbard, Wm. Rosneau; Clearwater, Miss Symmes; Morrison, Thelma Wise; Todd, Gladys Pentz; Blue Earth, Wm. George; Itasca, Bud Inman and Beltrami, Bob Zimmer.

This committee met this afternoon, electing the state officers for the coming year.

Officers elected for the year are the delegates from the State of Minnesota to the International Young People's Council to meet in Toronto, Canada June 23 to 28. This is the second meeting of this international council, the last one being held at Birmingham, Alabama four years ago. Those attending the international conference are a selected group of not more than 150.

Thursday Evening

The second session of the Young People's Conference was held last evening, William George of Markato presiding. A service of worship "The Radiant Tree" was given by Miss Margaret Briggs of St. Paul. This was accompanied by lantern slides, an unseen quartet singing and candles being used for lights. It was an Easter theme showing the various steps in the life and crucifixion of Christ. This service was very impressive and well given. Among the scenes shown were "The Last Supper" by Da Vinci; "Christ in Gethsemane" by Hoffman; "Christ Before Pilate" by Munkacsy; "Ecce Homo" by Ciseri; "Denial by Peter" by Harrach; "Christ Coming From the Pretorium"; "The Crucifixion" by Bonnat; "Jesus Taken From the Cross" by Pieta; "Entombment" by Titian; "Jesus" by Seifert; "The Walk to Emmaus"; "Supper at Emmaus" by Gebhardt with Holman Hunt's "Light of the World" as the closing picture. This typified Christ standing outside a closed door and knocking. There was no knob on the door, showing that the heart's door must be opened from the inside, that Christ does not open it. The service closed with singing that beautiful hymn "We Would See Jesus."

Rev. R. A. Waite was the speaker of the evening, giving an address on "Contact." His talk was direct and searching, and he made an appeal to all to keep in right relationship with God. He showed that Christianity is a personal matter, each to have direct dealings with their Maker. "Dad" Waite is a slow, careful speaker and one who holds the interest of all. He spoke of prayer, the need of it and what it really was; making clear it was meditation or in simple words "palling with God."

Rev. Waite said "As Pilots of the Upper Air" we are now in the realm of lost and found in the teachings of Jesus. We spoil Jesus' idea of the lost and found when we interpret 'lost' as a fearful sinner and the found as the righteous. Lost means out of right relation, and found means in the right relation. We are not truly 'found' until we are in our rightful place" he said.

"The lost sheep was not found when he was discovered on the mountain. He was only found when he was restored to the fold" said Mr. Waite. This evening at 6:30 o'clock the fellowship supper will be given followed by songs of Easter and worship, the theme being "To Consecrate Thyself." Installation of officers will also take place. The address of the evening will be given by Mr. Waite, on "Beyond the Horizon."

The last session of the conference will be held tomorrow morning. The program is as follows:

Saturday Morning
Presiding—Evelyn Hall, St. Cloud.
9:00 Worship—Theme: To Seek God Through Silence. "Be still and know that I am God."—Psalms 46:10.
Talk—James, the Man of Silence—Mr. Fletcher.
9:20 Discussion Groups.
10:20 Awarding the Banner.
Address—Reaching the Upper Heights—Mr. Waite.

Scientific Temperance Instruction Contest Held in Local Schools

NINE JUDGES OFFICIATED

Many of the Essays Which Did Not Take Prizes Given Honorable Mention

The Scientific Temperance Instruction contest which was given in the local schools under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., was concluded this week with the following prizes awarded:

Fourth grade: Whittier school, Martha Louise Sheets first prize and June Yde second prize.

Fifth grade: Esther Lind of the Lowell school first prize and Virginia Austin of the Harrison school second prize.

Sixth grade: Edna Swanson of the Lowell school first prize and Ruth Mahlum of the Whittier school second prize.

Seventh grade: Ruby Henrichs of the Lowell school won first prize and Lars Holman second prize.

Eighth grade: Jennie Hoston of the Harrison school took first and Gladys Zander of the Lowell school second.

High school: Freshmen, Walter Kuehn first and Arve Mustonen second; sophomore, James Wieland first and Esther Kukkola second; junior, Arlene Hagberg first and Fay Rosina second; senior, Evelyn Grimstead first and Margaret Vadnais second.

Judges for the contest in the fourth and fifth grades were Mrs. L. E. Kinder, Mrs. F. S. Kelley and Mrs. K. A. Angel. For the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, Mrs. E. Hayes, Mrs. W. M. Murphy and F. Lind. Mrs. E. P. Slipp, Mrs. L. L. Peterson and Mrs. N. Temple were the high school essay judges.

Many of the essays which did not take prizes were given honorable mention.

The Scientific Temperance Instruction essay contest has been put on each year in the local schools for a number of years. The winners in the local contest will compete in the district contest. The winners in the district will compete in the state and winners there will compete in the national. Several of the Brainerd contestants last year were in the state contest.

The essays are written under national instruction. The teachers in the various schools did the first eliminating, after which they were sent to the judges. From the seventh grade up the first and second prizes were $2 and $1 respectively; for the fifth and sixth grades $1.25 and 75 cents respectively and for the fourth grade $1 and 50 cents respectively.

MRS. E. L. GUIN DIES OF ILLNESS

Passed Away Early Today at Home, 715 Second Avenue N. E.; Here 12 Years

Mrs. Jennie Guin, wife of E. L. Guin, passed away early today at her home 715 Second avenue N. E. at the age of 58 years after an illness of a year.

Besides her husband she leaves eight children, Lillian of Minneapolis, Miles, Ralph, Waldo, Carol, Donald, Beatrice, Marie, all of Brainerd.

Mrs. Guin had been a resident of Brainerd for the past 12 years. For 16 years previously she lived at Crow Wing where her husband operated a store.

THREE BRAINERD YOUNG PEOPLE ARE CANDIDATES

Ross Olmsted, Stuart Patterson and Lily Olson Among 14 Nominees

BALLOTING CONTINUES TODAY

Four Will be Chosen to Represent Minnesota at International Convention

Three Brainerd young people, Ross Olmsted, Lily Olson and Stuart Patterson were chosen this afternoon as candidates to be delegates at the international convention to be held in June at Toronto, Canada. Other candidates were Margaret Briggs, Mary Margaret Burnett, Vera Day, Pauline Radford, Evelyn Hall, Dorothy Strunk, Theodore Jones, Bill George, Bill McEloun, Bob Zimmer and Howard Jones, at the election held today at the State Young People's Conference.

The balloting continued this afternoon on who the four representatives would be. There will be two boys and two girls chosen. Of the boys, the highest will be president and the second highest will be second vice president. Of the girls, the one receiving the highest number of ballots will be first vice president, the other will be secretary.

At the meeting yesterday afternoon, the election of representatives on the State Young People's Council from each county was as follows: Crow Wing county, Louise Clausen; Winona, Irwin Bublitz; Stearns and Benton, Lois Bailey; Dodge, Richard Grant; Hennepin, Ed Batchelor; Ramsey, Howard Jones; Wright, Ben Jensen; Ottertail, Neva Barker; Fillmore, Claire Dotzenrod; Hubbard, Wm. Rosneau; Morrison, Clifford Buck; Todd, Reuben Winkelmann; Blue Earth, Wm. George; Itasca, Alzata Titus and Beltrami, Bob Zimmer.

Those on the nominating committee elected yesterday afternoon were: Crow Wing county, Ross Olmsted; Rice, Carol Reid; Winona, Mildred Spencer; Stearns and Benton, Alotta Saltres; Dodge, Merlin Batzel; Hennepin, Betty Fraser; Ramsey, Pauline Radford; St. Louis, Howard Mace; Wright, Nola Faust; Ottertail, Mary Margaret Burnap; Steele, Russell Stray; Fillmore, Clair Dotzenrod; Hubbard, Wm. Rosneau; Clearwater, Miss Synmes; Morrison, Thelma Wise, Todd, Gladys Pentz; Blue Earth, Wm. George; Itasca, Bud Inman and Beltrami, Bob Zimmer.

This committee met this afternoon, electing the state officers for the coming year.

Officers elected for the year are the delegates from the State of Minnesota to the International Young People's Council to meet in Toronto, Canada June 23 to 28. This is the second meeting of this international council, the last one being held at Birmingham, Alabama four years ago. Those attending the international conference are a selected group of not more than 150.

Thursday Evening

The second session of the Young People's Conference was held last evening, William George of Mankato presiding. A service of worship "The Radiant Tree" was given by Miss Margaret Briggs of St. Paul. This was accompanied by lantern slides, an unseen quartet singing and candles being used for lights. It was an Easter theme showing the various steps in the life and crucifixion of Christ. This service was very impressive and well given. Among the scenes shown were "The Last Supper" by Da Vinci; "Christ in Gethsemane" by Hoffman; "Christ Before Pilate" by Munkacsy; "Ecce Homo" by Ciseri; "Denial by Peter" by Harnach; "Christ Coming From the Pretorium"; "The Crucifixion" by Bonnat; "Jesus Taken From the Cross" by Pieta; "Entombment" by Titian; "Jesus" by Seifert; "The Walk to Emmaus"; "Supper at Emmaus" by Gebhardt with Holman Hunt's "Light of the World" as the closing picture. This typified Christ standing outside a closed door and knocking. There was no knob on the door, showing that the heart's door must be opened from the inside, that Christ does not open it. The service closed with singing that beautiful hymn "We Would See Jesus."

Rev. R. A. Waite was the speaker of the evening, giving an address on "Contact." His talk was direct and searching, and he made an appeal to all to keep in right relationship with God. He showed that Christianity is a personal matter, each to have direct dealings with their Maker. "Dad" Waite is a slow, careful speaker and one who holds the interest of all. He spoke of prayer, the need of it and what it really was; making clear it was meditation or in simple words "palling with God."

Rev. Waite said "As Pilots of the Upper Air" we are now in the realm of lost and found in the teachings of Jesus. We spoil Jesus' idea of the lost and found when we interpret 'lost' as a fearful sinner and the found as the righteous. Lost means out of right relation, and found means in the right relation. We are not truly 'found' until we are in our rightful place" he said.

"The lost sheep was not found when he was discovered on the mountain. He was only found when he was restored to the fold" said Mr. Waite. This evening at 6:30 o'clock the fellowship supper will be given followed by songs of Easter and worship, the theme being "To Consecrate Thyself." Installation of officers will also take place. The address of the evening will be given by Mr. Waite, on "Beyond the Horizon."

The last session of the conference will be held tomorrow morning. The program is as follows:

Saturday Morning

Presiding—Evelyn Hall, St. Cloud. 9:00 Worship—Theme: To Seek God Through Silence. "Be still and know that I am God."—Psalms 46:10. Talk—James, the Man of Silence—Mr. Fletcher.

Discussion Groups.

10:20 Awarding the Banner. Address—Reaching the Upper Heights—Mr. Waite. Friendship Circle.

FINANCING OF WET AND DRY PROPAGANDA

MATTER WILL BE GIVEN AN IN-QUIRY BY SENATE LOBBY
COMMITTEE

CHARGE MADE FOREIGN LIQUOR INTERESTS AIDING CAMPAIGN AGAINST PROHIBITION

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, March 28.—Reports of rich financing of wet and dry propaganda organizations will be subjected to inquiry next week by the senate
lobby committee.

The charge of Horace D. Taft, brother of the late chief justice, that foreign liquor interests are helping finance the campaign against prohibition will be among the reports to be investigated. Thus far there appears to be no concrete evidence that large sums are being spent by either side. The Anti-Saloon League has reported to the clerk of the house, it was learned today, its disbursements last year amounted to $11,927. The Association against the Prohibition Amendment reported it received $5,481 and spent $4,720. The Federal Dispensary Tax Reduction League spent $16,133 and the Congressional Districts Modification League disbursed $5,728. The Prohibition National Committee spent $8,27.

There is no public record of the expenditures of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals. This board does not consider itself a lobbying organization, although some charges have been made against it by Rep. George Holden Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, and Senator Copeland, democrat, New York. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, head of the board, is expected to be called by the committee on demand of Tinkham who has been summoned as first witness.

The expenses of the wet and dry organizations have mounted higher than usual during recent weeks because of the prohibition hearings before the house judiciary committee. Witnesses have been called from all sections of the country and half a million words of testimony has been accumulated.

The Taft charges were denied by Baron De Mumm, French Wine Association leader, but Taft persisted in his interpretation of an article carried in a newspaper, quoting the French wine commission. The wetts contended the commission was referring to money spent for advertising in American language newspapers in France.

The records of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment as produced to the clerk of the house show no foreign contributions, and incidentally no single contribution of more than $100.

However prohibition interest for the next week will be centered upon this inquiry while wet and dry matters are calming down in both the senate and the house.

The padlock restriction bill reported yesterday by the house judiciary committee will be taken up on the floor as a routine matter within the next two weeks.

POOR BABY MUST SPEND FIRST 6 MONTHS OF LIFE IN JAIL

McMinnville, Ore., March 28.—(U.P.)—A baby born yesterday to Mrs. Ruth Baker must spend the first six months of its life in jail.

Mrs. Baker was sentenced Wednesday on a charge of maintaining a still but sentence was deferred until after birth of her child. The baby was born Thursday. She must go to jail as soon as she is physically able and will be allowed to keep her baby with her. Mrs. Baker's husband is serving a penitentiary sentence on a moonshining conviction.

AGENTS WAITED UNTIL WOMAN COMPLETED BATH

New Orleans, La., March 28.—(U.P.)—Federal prohibition agents won in an effort to seize three quarts of liquor here, but not until after their woman foe completed her bath.

"Let us in" two big agents shouted, as they rapped on Mrs. Jacqueline Munson's bathroom door.

"Not on your life," Mrs. Munson hurriedly told the agents.

"We have a search warrant," the prohibition agents warned.

"I don't care what you have," the voice from behind the door commanded, "but if you come in here it is going to be somebody's funeral. I am taking a bath."

The agents blushed and waited.

VEERS SHARPLY TO REPEAL OF THE 18TH AMENDMENT

LITERARY DIGEST PROHIBITION POLL COMPILATION UP TO PRESENT DATE

KANSAS IS ONLY STATE VOTING BONE DRY, ACCORDING TO TABULATION

New York, March 28.—(U.P.)—The Literary Digest's prohibition straw vote continues to veer sharply toward repeal of the 18th amendment. Kansas is the only state voting bone dry, according to the latest tabulation of the poll which will appear in the magazine's Saturday issue.

Of a total of 1,244,483 votes cast thus far, 333,978 were for enforcement; 383,117 for modification and 527,388 for repeal.

Nine of the 20 states represented in the new tabulation—Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota and Washington—show more votes in favor of enforcement than for either modification or repeal.

The Kansas vote was 17,957 for enforcement as against a total of 11,723 for modification and repeal. Tabulation of northwest states showed:

	enforc.	modif.	repeal	total
Kansas	17,957	6,823	4,900	29,680
Michigan	18,707	20,302	27,677	66,686
Minnesota	17,661	17,530	21,896	54,087
Nebraska	8,812	5,880	5,263	19,955
Missouri	18,950	15,091	24,364	58,405
N. Dakota	2,889	2,008	1,196	6,093
S. Dakota	2,664	2,015	1,674	6,353
Wisconsin	9,002	11,273	16,357	36,632
Total	333,978	383,117	527,388	1,244,483

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL

No. 3289
State of Minnesota, County of Crow Wing, ss., Probate Court.

In the Matter of the Estate of Jane C. Wagar, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to All Whom it May Concern:

Whereas, Harvey Wagar, of the City of Pasco, State of Washington, has deposited in this Court an instrument in writing purporting to be the Last Will and Testament of Jane C. Wagar, late of the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, together with his petition praying that said instrument be allowed and admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be granted thereon to him, which instrument and petition are on file in this Court and open to inspection:

IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard on the 7th day of April, 1930, at ten o'clock 'A. M., at the Probate Court Room, in the Court House at Brainerd, in said County and State; that you be and appear before this Court at said time and place and show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted; that you file your objections, if any there be, in writing, in this Court to the allowance of said Will, before said hearing; and that this citation be served by the publication thereof according to law, and by mailed notice as required by the rules of this Court.

WITNESS The Judge of this Court and the Seal thereof this 15th day of March, 1930.

(Probate Court Seal) L. B. KINDER, Probate Judge.

FINANCING OF WET AND DRY PROPAGANDA

MATTER WILL BE GIVEN AN IN-QUIRY BY SENATE LOBBY
COMMITTEE

CHARGE MADE FOREIGN LIQUOR
INTERESTS AIDING CAMPAIGN AGAINST PROHIBITION

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, March 28.—Reports of rich financing of wet and dry propaganda organizations will be subjected to inquiry next week by the senate
lobby committee.

The charge of Horace D. Taft, brother of the late chief justice, that foreign liquor interests are helping finance the campaign against prohibition will be among the reports to be investigated. Thus far there appears to be no concrete evidence that large sums are being spent by either side. The Anti-Saloon League has reported to the clerk of the house, it was learned today, its disbursements last year amounted to $11,927. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment reported it received $5,481 and spent $4,720. The Federal Dispensary Tax Reduction League spent $16,133 and the Congressional Districts Modification League disbursed $5,728. The Prohibition National Committee spent $8,27.

There is no public record of the expenditures of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals. This board does not consider itself a lobbying organization, although some charges have been made against it by Rep. George Holden Tinkham, republican, Massachusetts, and Senator Copeland, democrat, New York. Dr. Clarence True Wilson, head of the board, is expected to be called by the committee on demand of Tinkham who has been summoned as first witness.

The expenses of the wet and dry organizations have mounted higher than usual during recent weeks because of the prohibition hearings before the house judiciary committee. Witnesses have been called from all sections of the country and half a million words of testimony have been accumulated.

The Taft charges were denied by Baron De Munm, French Wine Association leader, but Taft persisted in his interpretation of an article carried in a newspaper, quoting the French wine commission. The wets contended the commission was referring to money spent for advertising in American language newspapers in France.

The records of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment as produced to the clerk of the house show no foreign contributions, and incidentally no single contribution of more than $100.

However prohibition interest for the next week will be centered upon this inquiry while wet and dry matters are calming down in both the senate and the house.

The padlock restriction bill reported yesterday by the house judiciary committee will be taken up on the floor as a routine matter within the next two weeks.

POOR BABY MUST SPEND FIRST 6 MONTHS OF LIFE IN JAIL

McMinnville, Ore., March 28.—(UP)—A baby born yesterday to Mrs. Ruth Baker must spend the first six months of its life in jail.

Mrs. Baker was sentenced Wednesday on a charge of maintaining a still but sentence was deferred until after birth of her child. The baby was born Thursday. She must go to jail as soon as she is physically able and will be allowed to keep her baby with her.

Mrs. Baker's husband is serving a penitentiary sentence on a moonshining conviction.

AGENTS WAITED UNTIL WOMAN COMPLETED BATH

New Orleans, La., March 28.—(UP)—Federal prohibition agents won in an effort to seize three quarts of liquor here, but not until after their woman foe completed her bath.

"Let us in" two big agents shouted, as they rapped on Mrs. Jacqueline Munson's bathroom door.

"Not on your life," Mrs. Munson hurriedly told the agents.

"We have a search warrant," the prohibition agents warned.

"I don't care what you have," the voice from behind the door commanded, "but if you come in here it is going to be somebody's funeral. I am taking a bath."

The agents blushed and waited.

VEERS SHARPLY TO REPEAL OF THE 18TH AMENDMENT

LITERARY DIGEST PROHIBITION POLL COMPILATION UP TO PRESENT DATE

KANSAS IS ONLY STATE VOTING
BONE DRY, ACCORDING TO TABULATION

New York, March 28.—(UP)—The Literary Digest's prohibition straw vote continues to veer sharply toward repeal of the 18th amendment. Kansas is the only state voting bone dry, according to the latest tabulation of the poll which will appear in the magazine's Saturday issue.

Of a total of 1,244,483 votes cast thus far, 333,978 were for enforcement; 283,117 for modification and 527,388 for repeal.

Nine of the 20 states represented in the new tabulation—Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota and Washington—show more votes in favor of enforcement than for either modification or repeal.

The Kansas vote was 17,957 for enforcement as against a total of 11,723 for modification and repeal.

Tabulation of northwest states showed:

	enforc.	modif.	repeal	total
Kansas	17,957	6,823	4,900	29,680
Michigan	18,707	20,302	27,677	66,686
Minnesota	17,661	17,530	21,896	54,087
Nebraska	8,812	5,880	5,263	19,955
Missouri	18,950	15,601	24,364	58,915
N. Dakota	2,889	2,008	1,196	6,493
S. Dakota	2,664	2,015	1,674	6,353
Wisconsin	9,002	11,273	16,357	36,632
Total	333,978	383,117	527,388	1,244,483

Works Hour Trying to Save Life of Injured Little Girl

Minneapolis, March 28.—(UP)—After Dr. William P. Sadler, staff member of the Northwestern hospital, had worked an hour to save the life of a little 2-year-old girl he had struck with his automobile, Maxine Olson died last night. The girl's father had warned her to stay indoors after dark.
